SEATING OF RED CHINA IS BEFORE U. N.

By MAX HARRELSON
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. Steering Committee today brushed aside Soviet objections and voted to shelve for another year the question of seating Red China in the world organization. The postponement was proposed by the United States.

The vote in the 21-nation committee was 12-7 with one abstention. It still has to be ratified by the full 85-nation General Assembly, but approval was assured.

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States was expected to win quick approval today of a move to shelve for another year the question of seating Red China in the U. N.

The U. S. proposal was slated for debate in the General Assembly's 21-nation steering committee.

Although the outcome appeared certain, the debate on the China question was watched with unusual interest because of its possible bearing on the atmosphere of East-West relations during the three-month session.

The proceedings have added significance because they come almost on the eve of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's speech before the Assembly Friday afternoon. Regardless of the steering committee's decision, Khrushchev was expected to put in a strong bid for his Peiping partners.

Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon was leading the fight to have the Assembly act now on the China representation question. The Indians insisted they still felt Red China should be in the U. N. despite India's current game.

Taxpayers File Court Appeals On Assessments

Property owners from throughout Warren County have petitioned the county court appealing their real estate tax assessments under the new equalization program. There were 16 petitions on file at the prothonotary's office today and a number of additional petitions are expected, according to the office staff.

The appeals "follow tax appeals heard by the county commissioners in mid-summer after assessment notices were sent out late in June. Property owners are entitled to take their appeal into the county court if they are not satisfied with the decision of their earlier request to the commissioners for re-adjustments.

No date has been set by the court for hearing the petitions. The property owners, represented by attorneys, will be required to give testimony and evidence on why they should have lower assessments. In McKean County, when equalization was adopted, there were a number of appeals but only three actually reached a hearing stage in court.

Lack of New Tax Revenue Forces Sheffield Loans

SHEFFIELD—The Sheffield school board, like other taxing districts in Warren County, has been forced to obtain temporary loans to meet expenses. Delay in taxing figures, caused by introduction of the tax equalization program, has held up the current taxing schedule.

At the school board meeting Monday authorization was given to borrow $15,000 to meet the September payroll in the local school system, bringing the total to $39,000, Superintendent Thomas K.

Mourning Symbols Are Appearing Up And Down Land

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Up and down the land symbols of mourning are cropping up and prayers are being held as some Americans express their protest or concern over the visit of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

But few of the demonstrations have personally touched the Soviet leader and they are generally quiet and solemn, not violent.

The American people appeared to be almost unanimously adhering to President Eisenhower's request for polite, courteous treatment of an important foreign visitor.

Many of the protests showed more imagination than anger. A Hungarian refugee tried to put a black blindfold over the eyes of the Statue of Liberty, but the cloth dropped from the statue's crown was torn away by the wind.

A paper plant at Holyoke, Mass. and St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Cathedral in Buffalo, N.Y., both flew flags upside down. A cathedral spokesman explained the upside down flag was a distress signal.

A skywriting plane drew a huge cross over Washington skies as Khrushchev was driven into the capital. "Just a symbol of our faith" sponsored by an anti-Communist religious group.

The Soviet Premier may also have been able to hear the hymn "Faith of Our Fathers" tolled by church bells as the caravan went past the White House.

ELECTROCUTED

GREENSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Thomas Maljan, 45, of nearby Derry was electrocuted Tuesday. He came in contact with a live wire while trying to repair a stone conveyor at a Latrobe Construction Co. stone quarry.

The board moved into its new building program by scheduling meetings on Monday evenings with architects who will be briefed on the requirements for the new elementary school. The architects will submit initial drawings to the board which will select the firm which will make the final plans for the building, estimated to cost $500,000.

Next week Mr. Barratt and representatives of the architectural firm of Beck and Tunkman will go to Harrisburg to discuss fire safety requirements in the schools here. The Labor and Industry Department earlier this year ordered interior staircases in elementary schools and fire enclosure structures on existing stairs in the high school plus enclosure.

The third fatal accident in as many days in the Warren area, about 12:30 o'clock this morning, claimed the life of a former service man when the car he was operating west on the Jackson Run road near the Miller Hill intersection, apparently went out of control, traveled on the right berm for a short distance, careened across the pavement, over a short embankment and came to rest on its side in a swamp to the left of the pavement.

It was the eighth fatal accident in the county this year, in which nine persons have lost their lives.

Victim of the tragedy was Donald E. Brown, 22, Sugar Grove RD 3. Seriously injured was his wife Pauline, 22, who with a three-year-old daughter, Theresa Ann, is under treatment at the Warren General Hospital. Mrs. Brown has a severe scalp laceration, bruises and suffers from shock. The infant has abrasions and lacerations.

According to facts divulged through an investigation launched at the time by State Trooper Jim Bailey and Cpl. Joe Mastrian, the family had spent the evening at the home of Mr. Brown's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Brown, 12 South South street, leaving for their home (Turn to Page Sixteen)

Death Toll in Houston School Bombing at Seven

HOUSTON (AP)—"A man walks across the street with a bomb and kills children."

W. S. Hawes had just identified the body of his only son.

William S. Hawes Jr., 7, was one of six persons killed when a man pushed a button and blew up a suitcase of explosives Tuesday on the playground at Edgar Allen Poe Elementary School.

Paul Harold Orgeron, 47, pressed the doorbell type button minutes after enrolling his red-haired son, Dusty Paul, 7, in the school.

In addition to young Hawes, the blast killed Orgeron, Dusty, another pupil, a teacher and a custodian.

The 18 persons hospitalized included the principal, Mrs. R. E. Doty, 64. Four children remain in critical condition. Several are in serious condition with leg amputations and internal injuries.

William Hawes and John Cecil Fitch Jr., 8, died as they ran ahead of the class when they were released for recess.

Jennie Kolter, 54, a second-grade teacher, and James Montgomery, 56, school custodian, died while aiding Mrs. Doty in trying to persuade Orgeron to leave the school grounds.

Two incoherent notes were found on the playground but police and the FBI could find no specific reason why Orgeron, a former convict, set off the explosion.

DeGaulle Will Unveil His Plan for Algeria

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle tonight disclosed his master plan for ending the nearly five-year-old Algerian rebellion. France's top problem.

De Gaulle prepared his statement behind a cloak of secrecy at his country estate at Colombey les Deux Eglises. This morning he was to read it to his Cabinet and later broadcast it over radio and TV.

Little officially is known of what De Gaulle will propose for ending the rebellion, but it has been disclosed he will "affirm the principle of self-determination."

This has been interpreted to mean Algeria's nine million Moslems will be able to vote on how they wish to be covered. Nothing official has been reported as to De Gaulle's timetable for bringing this about.

Welder Secures Fire Escape Gratings

SAFETY MEASURE—An aftermath of the fatal accident Sunday to Dorothy Nan Collins, fourth grade pupil who fell from the second floor landing of a fire escape at the East St. School, the school board ordered gratings in all fire escapes at borough schools welded so they cannot be removed. Welder Frank Zaffino is shown applying the torch on a fire escape at South St. School yesterday, watched by Fred Watt, school custodian. Mr. Watt disclosed gratings at his school have been secured by wires for 14 years. Timesphoto Shattuck.

Somebody Goofs Unfurling Flags

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials' faces today were just about as red as the Soviet flag. They failed to have the Soviet banner unfurled over the temporary residence of Premier Nikita Khrushchev until reminded by newsmen.

The large red standard with hammer and sickle insignia flew over Blair House Tuesday, as provided by protocol, because that's where Khrushchev is staying during his Washington visit.

Premier Takes An Early Morning Look At Capital

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sleepy-looking Premier Nikita Khrushchev stepped out in shirt sleeves for an early morning look today.

He made a four-minute appearance on the steps of Blair House, where he is staying during his Washington visit.

The Kremlin chief—who had been up late at White House dinner—emerged unannounced. The time was 7:45 a. m.

A servant carried an armful of morning newspapers into Blair House. All of them headlined Khrushchev's visit.

Khrushchev, looking a bit tired and sleepy, squinted at the early morning sun, and took a few deep breaths of the cool fall air.

Then he seemed to wake up a bit. His solemn manner gave way to smiles and waves as photographers snapped pictures.

The Communist chief and the American newsmen were unable to exchange conversation. Khrushchev pointed to his ear, signifying that he did not understand the English shouted at him. The he mustered one phrase in broken English: "Verre gud."

Plans Rapidly Taking Shape For Festival and Auction

Plans for Warren's Sidewalk Festival and Street Auction Sept. 25 and 26 were reported to be "pretty well under way" by Warren Area Chamber of Commerce executive vice-president Sam Hoffman today.

The community-wide late-summer sales will begin with the opening of the 64 participating stores a 9 a. m. on Sept. 25. Merchants will display rectangular white banners in their windows, designating their stores as sales headquarters.

Mr. Hoffman said he was going to conduct a survey of the sales area today in order to determine where the various sidewalk stalls will be placed.

Among the organizations conducting bake and candy sales, bazaars, sales of light bulbs, artificial flowers, aprons, baskets,

Thieves Make Off With Paintings Worth $640,000

TORONTO, Ont. (AP)—Officials expressed belief today that knowledge of the Toronto Art Gallery's burglar alarm system enabled thieves to make off with $640,000 worth of masterpieces.

"There were literally dozens of times when someone who didn't know how the system operated would have set it off," said the gallery director, Martin Baldwin.

During Monday night's robbery, one of the thieves tried to cut the center panel out of a fire door, apparently aware the alarm system would go off if the door was opened.

The thieves worked through the night, hacking six masterpieces from their frames and damaging two others. Stolen were two Rembrandts valued at $150,000 and $250,000, two Frans Hals paintings worth $120,000 and $80,000, one Rubens at $20,000 and a Renouart at $20,000.

Infected by Bat, Man Dies of Hydrophobia

Less than a month later he was dead of hydrophobia.

SOVIET PREMIER SLATED FOR IMPORTANT ADDRESS BEFORE NEWSPAPER MEN

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Bouncy and jovial, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev told Americans today they and the Russians would be better off if they concentrated on peaceful pursuits—such as raising fine turkeys.

"If we don't give a capitalist turkey and a Communist turkey a passport, no one can tell the difference," quipped the beaming boss of world communism during a tour of the Department of Agriculture's high experimental farm at nearby Beltsville, Md.

If Khrushchev was in a gay mood, his host, President Eisenhower, displayed a more somber outlook. The President told two White House callers this morning he hoped the Khrushchev visit might do some good toward easing world tensions.

Khrushchev, nattily attired and apparently none the worse for wear after the long first day of his historic trip, showed his usual ebullience at the experimental farm. His comment on turkeys came as he looked over an exhibit of prize white turkeys.

The visit to the farm preceded the Soviet Premier's scheduled major address before a audience of newspaper writers.

The Communist boss, exponent in his own country of thoroughgoing agricultural reform, was told at Beltsville by Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson that capitalism helped the American farmer develop food production to a degree unequaled anywhere in the world.

"Our farmers are free, efficient, creative and hard working," Benson told the Soviet chief. "I like to call them 'the salt of the earth'—truly good people."

Benson explained to Khrushchev—who has predicted the Soviet Union's agriculture some day would help create a living standard superior to the American—how the United States has achieved its present agricultural level. He explained to the visitor how there is "constant give-and-take information between government scientists and those in private industry."

Khrushchev invited Benson to take along farmers and agricultural scientists when the secretary visits the Soviet Union soon. Benson said he hoped he could talk with Soviet farmers the same way Khrushchev will be able to talk to the American ones when the Soviet leader visits Iowa next week.

At one point Khrushchev told Benson, agriculture is basic to human existence because "the first thing one does when he gets up of a morning is to eat."

"You would make a good farmer," replied Benson, himself an ex-farmer.

Khrushchev dropped a hint of his primary theme Tuesday night. In an exchange of toasts with President Eisenhower during a White House state dinner, the Soviet leader noted that the United States and the USSR are too strong to permit quarreling between them.

He added: "If we were weak countries, then it would be another matter, because when the weak quarrel, they are just scratching each other's faces and it takes just a couple of days for a cosmopolitan—and everything comes out right again. But, if we (Turn to Page Sixteen)

Record In Appropriations Voted by the 1959 Congress

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 1959 Congress voted the biggest peace-time appropriations total in history.

In only four previous years—two during World War II and two during the Korean War—has the money total exceeded the $31,975,368,352 Congress approved in the session ending Tuesday. The amount exceeded by a small margin the previous peacetime record of $31,119,818,276 voted in the 1958 session.

Westmoreland Co. Boy on Red Plane

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Air Force navigator from Westmoreland County was aboard the Russian plane that brought Premier Khrushchev from Moscow to Washington Tuesday.

Capt. George Bohichuk, 40, of Slickville, was one of three American airmen assigned to the flight as an advisory crew.

Bohichuk said Khrushchev entered the flight compartment twice during the trip, and shook hands with him and the other members of the advisory crew.

Modest Goals Set for Talks, Report Says

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev have set modest goals for their talks here by proclaiming an agreement "to seek ways to achieve a better understanding."

But the question which hung over their two-hour conference Tuesday, as it will dominate their talks in the days ahead, is whether a better understanding can be translated sooner or later into practical agreements for ending the conflicts that make up the cold war.

On this basic question there is deep skepticism among high officials in the United States government.

The hard fact, as these officials see the situation, is that the quarrels and conflicts which divide the (Turn to Page Sixteen)

Plans for Active Campaign Slated By GOP Candidates

The drive for new voter registration over, Warren County's Republican party organization went into the opening phases of the Nov. 3 Election last night by holding a county office candidates' dinner.

County Chairman William E. Rice informed the candidates he will appoint officers of the new county committee plus major committee chairmen and an executive committee within a week or ten days. Revision of the GOP organization rules, which date back to 1907, is almost complete and the legal committee will present them for ratification by the county committee in October, the chairman said.

The chairman also announced that state Republican chairman George I. Bloom and vice-chairman (Turn to Page Sixteen) the Democrats are wild spenders. By far the biggest cut was the $2,040,000 slashed from foreign aid, the program which Eisenhower made the strongest effort to save from heavy reductions. This included 500 million in development loan funds for the year starting next July 1 which was denied, but which will come up again next year.

The only years in which the appropriations total exceeded 1959 figures were 1942, when 147 billion was voted, 1943, with a 115-billion total, 1951, with 101-billion, and 1952, with 86 billion.

This year's allotments continued the upward trend of every year of the Eisenhower administration except the first and second. During those years Republicans controlled Congress. Appropriations totaled 65 billion in 1953, dropped to 58 billion in 1954, and have mounted steadily since.

Potato Harvest In State Will Be Below Forecast

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's fall potato harvest will be smaller than forecast due to dry weather, the State Crop Reporting Service predicts.

In its weekly summary of crop conditions, the Agriculture Department agency said Tuesday that the harvest has started in southern counties and will begin next week in northern areas.

"Picking of fall apples is in full swing in the southern and central counties and will start shortly in other producing areas."

"Tomatoes, cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, and fall spinach are still in good supply, but volume of

Republican Leaders Unable To Agree On Trimming Of Governor's 1959-61 Budget

HARRISBURG (AP) — Senate Republicans were reported at odds today on how to trim Gov. Lawrence's $1,700,000,000 budget for 1959-61.

Reports that differences had cropped up in the GOP caucus developed after the leaders spent five hours Tuesday without making much headway in a plan to chop the fiscal outlay by some 63 million dollars.

After the lengthy session, Sen. James S. Berger, GOP floor leader, said that the caucus had gotten only halfway through the budget in a line-by-line check of Lawrence's requests.

A spokesman, who declined quotation by name, said arguments developed over proposed cuts in funds for industrial development and urban renewal.

Lawrence asked for 10 million dollars to finance the industrial most other vegetables is diminished or passed.

development program in the next two years. It was reported that a reduction of four million dollars in that figure was discussed in caucus.

A hassle developed in the last Legislature when the GOP leadership tried to trim the industrial development appropriations. The money is appropriated to the State Commerce Department for assisting hard-pressed areas in attracting new industrial plants.

The caucus source said another proposal advanced called for trimming the 10-million-dollar urban renewal request to five millions or three millions.

HIGHWAYS—A proposal for the broadening of the powers of the state highways secretary was defeated in the House, 92-90. Republicans opposed it on the grounds it would make the highways secretary a "super-dictator."

Among other things, it would give the secretary power to condemn trees and structures on private property which obstruct drivers' vision.

TAXES — Three levies which would bring in 19 million dollars during the biennium were expected to come up in the Senate for final action today. The measures, which have been hanging fire for more than two weeks, are part of Lawrence's tax program.

MEDICAL MAJESTY — Student nurses pause before the entrance to the Rehabilitation Building at the new Stanford Medical Center on the Stanford University Campus in Palo Alto, Calif. The striking architectural theme in steel-reinforced concrete is repeated throughout the center, a 56-acre complex of three hospital and four medical school buildings. The 22-million-dollar center will be formally dedicated Sept. 17-18.

Guilty of Strangling Six-Month-Old Infant

LEBANON, Pa. (AP)—A sanity commission has found 29-year-old Dolores June Zipp, accused of strangling her 6-month old daughter, mentally ill.

The commission of two psychiatrists and an attorney Tuesday submitted its findings to Lebanon County Judge A. Harry Ehrgood. It recommended that the Jones-town R. D. 2 housewife be committed to a mental institution.

Mrs. Zipp has been in Lebanon County jail here since her arrest. She was charged with strangling her daughter, Melody Ann, as the child slept in a crib last Aug. 23.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Martha Hyer, one of Hollywood's most beautiful bachelor girls, is wrestling wolves who have switched a well known wolf line.

"They all want to see my etchings," confesses the blonde Texan, who lives alone in a beautiful hilltop house.

She has art she says is worth $500,000 hanging in the house, including originals by Gauguin, Dufy, Renoir, Utrillo and Lautrec. A magazine did a layout on the collection and the wolves descended.

"Some of them previously had been interested only in comic book art or the nudes in the girls' magazines," says Martha. "Now they are junior grade Picasso's."

Martha has been earning well over $100,000 a year playing unsympathetic other woman roles on the screen. Earlier this year she issued an edict to her agents that she wanted no more cold, unsympathetic parts. "Ice Palace," the film of the Edna Ferber novel, marks the emergence of the new screen Martha Hyer.

Her art and other investments have made her financially secure. Looks, wit, breeding and money make her one of the best catches in town but Martha has no husband plans at the moment.

"I'm having too much fun looking for a husband to worry about catching one," she declares.

Her work keeps her so busy that she has to get to time for herself.

"I'm a very happy girl the way I am now," she says. "I love to be surrounded by beauty."

"As for the paintings, I get more than my money's worth out of them. Money lying in a vault is not beautiful, except to a miser. I have all my money hanging on my walls — in great works of art."

"When I come home at night, I look at my money and it gives me great joy. If I ever get broke, I can always sell a painting and keep the other kind of wolf away from the door."

4-H Dairy Club Winners To Be At Dairy Show

(Publicity release from office of County Agent)

Naming of grand champions and reserve champions for each of the six leading dairy breeds will feature the fourth annual Pennsylvania Junior Dairy Show in the Farm Show building at Harrisburg, September 17, according to Blaine Schlosser, Assistant County Agent.

Only blue ribbon winners from the district 4-H and FFA dairy shows of 1959 will be allowed to compete for judging in the championship classes.

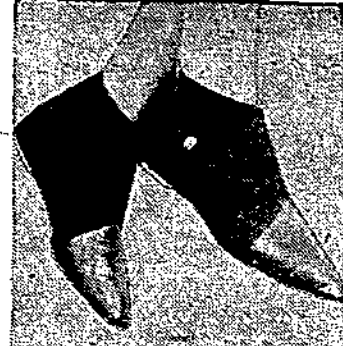

Warren County will be represented by Charles Lindell, Lander, whose Holstein Junior Calf stood at the top of its class, and Nancy Curtis, Columbus, who had a blue ribbon Senior calf and also the Grand Champion Jersey cow.

In addition to blue ribbon and championship awards at the show, judges will select exhibitors for the Master Fitter and Master Showman awards. No champion fitter or showman will be selected. National breed associations will make awards for the most outstanding animals entered in their respective breeds.

All blue ribbon winners at the show will have priority in the 1960 Farm Show next January. Nearly 400 head of Ayrshire, Brown Swiss, Guernsey, Holstein, Jersey, and Milking Shorthorn cattle will be shown with competition in separate 4-H and FFA classes.

The Warren County blue ribbon winners were selected at a District 4-H Show held at Meadville on September 5th.

TIME TO JOIN YOUR YWCA

Starting off its fall season with a membership drive, the YWCA is looking forward to another year of activity and progress. Many Warren organizations have found the YWCA an ideal meeting place, and its own schedule of clubs and classes has something to appeal to women and girls of all ages. The "Y" deserves the support of the entire community and persons interested in joining may contact the office or any of the long list of workers published in the Tuesday Times-Mirror.

Why join the "Y", someone asks. We put the same question to YW officials, and here are some of their reasons: The YWCA is a meeting place for peoples of all faiths united in a common bond, and finding pleasure in Christian association apart from regular church groups; it provides an outstanding program for girls in the Junior and Senior High Schools, also an excellent camping program. This year, it sponsors a program for out-of-school youth and single women of 25 to 40. Each Tuesday, the Ladies' Day Out program offers a variety of classes. Y-Step Out is the new name for the Tuesday evening program, which is similar to Ladies' Day Out.

Then there are the various clubs. The YWCA Woman's Club is a new group for women of all ages, meeting the first Thursday of each month and starting at 1:30 p. m. October 1, followed by a tea. The Dessert-Luncheon Club has been going strong for 20 years, women 20 to 45 attending. All-We-Je Club, enjoyed by older women, meets monthly for dinners and programs. Garden Club, another active unit, is for men and women. The Golden Agers, also men and women, have found a home at the YW as a guest group.

Another very real asset is the Residence and Dormitory for out of town girls, carefully chaperoned, and a "home away from home" for girls 18 to 35 at reasonable rates.

WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Togetherness in Washington is a political oddity. This was an odd year, although it wasn't supposed to be. Next year should be more normal. It's an election year.

The Democratic-run Congress, which ended its 1950 chores this week, got along so well with President Eisenhower it already has been accused of running obediently every time he whistled.

But even controversy between Northern and Southern Democrats was kept pretty much to a minimum. There are some pretty good reasons for the strange quietness which enveloped the Capitol all year:

The Democratic leadership in Congress let Eisenhower call the tunes and it postponed until 1960 the most inflammatory issues, like new civil rights legislation, federal aid to education, and others.

Because the Democrats got overwhelming control of this Congress in the 1950 elections, they had been expected to impose their thinking on Eisenhower who up till then had shown a very unaggressive leadership.

He fooled them. Right from the start he put them on the self-conscious defensive by accusing them of wanting to spend too much money at a time when the country was recovering from the 1950 recession. He said big spending wasn't needed.

To show that he meant what he said, he vetoed one bill after another and made all his vetoes stick except one at the end simply because enough Southern Democrats deserted their party's ranks to join Republicans in upholding the President.

If the two Democratic leaders—Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, both of Texas—had wanted to assert more leadership of their own and make a fight of it, they could have given Eisenhower a rougher time. They chose to play along.

The result was a lot of legislation but it was of a basic kind, and not very controversial.

Still, quiet as it was, this session of Congress once again demonstrated one of the myths in American politics—the idea that there are really only two political parties: Democrats and Republicans.

In the first place, despite their talk of differences between them, Democrats and Republicans see so much alike on major issues, differing mostly on details, that a foreigner would have a hard time distinguishing between them.

In the second place, there are really three political parties—Democrats, Republicans, and Southern Democrats—any time the Southerners want it to be that way.

Any time they disagree with the and Western Democrats, they can and do split off as a large bloc to line up with the opposition Republicans.

They showed their power in teaming up with House Republicans to pass a tougher labor control bill than the rest of the Democrats had in mind but which Eisenhower wanted.

They showed it repeatedly by splitting off—at least enough of them to be effective—to join the Republicans in upholding Eisenhower's vetoes, with one exception.

But next year Congress—in addition to civil rights and federal aid to education—faces legislation on farming, minimum wages, broadening of Social Security, aid for depressed areas, and possibly income tax changes.

Any one of those problems creates heat. If the Democratic leadership tries to pass civil rights legislation with real teeth in it, the Southerners will fight.

While the Democrats will have to woo the vote of minorities—and a strong civil rights bill is attractive to Northern Negro voters—the leaders have to think of something else: how not to split their party in an election year.

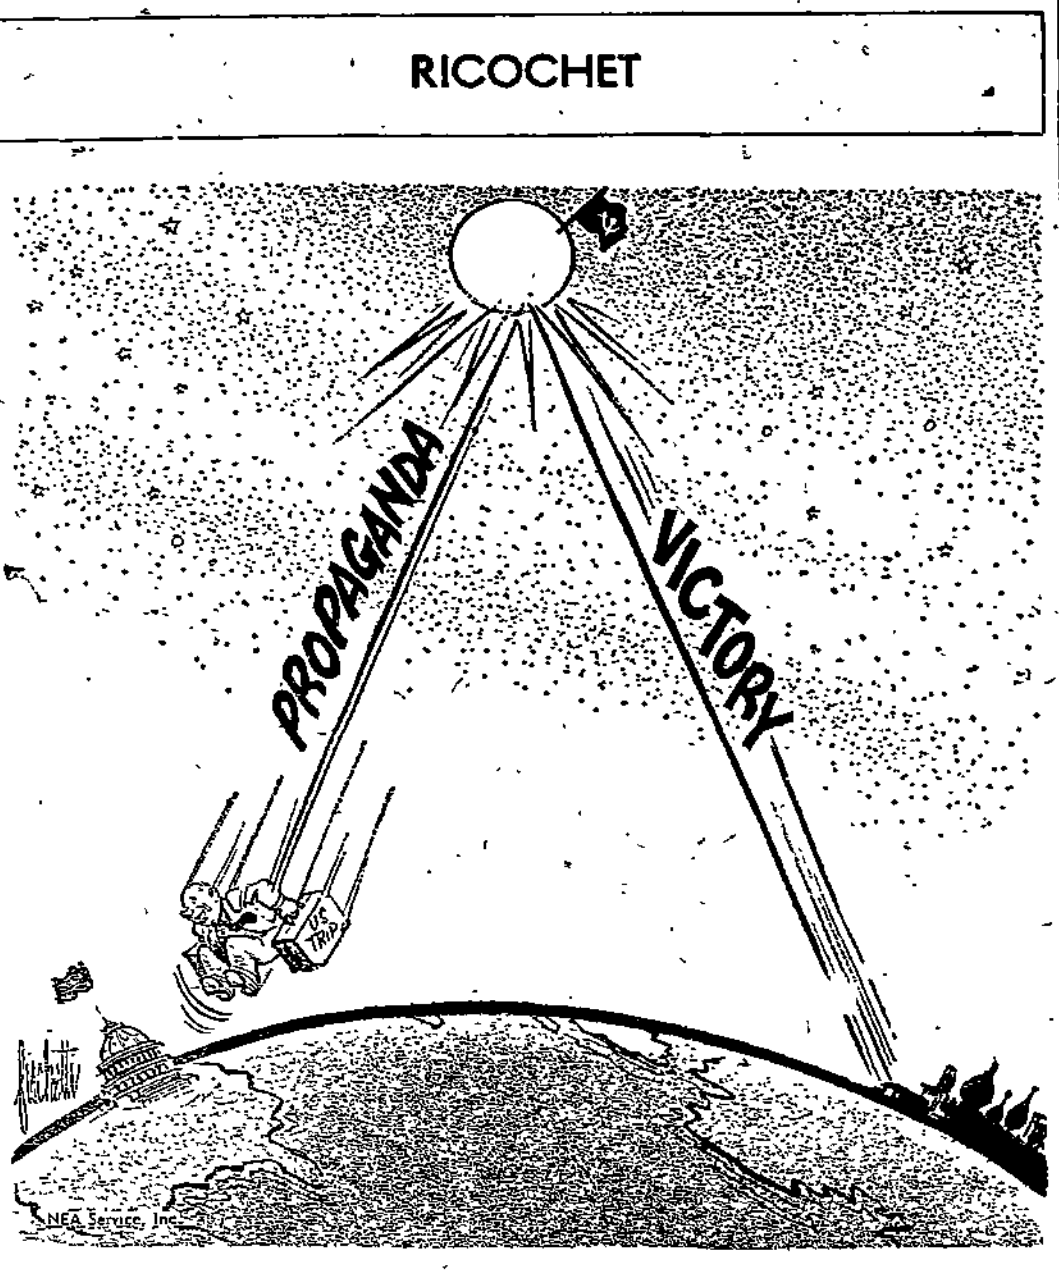

A rough and tumble on civil rights alone—if it left deep scars—could hurt the Democrats as a party in the presidential election.

So this year's togetherness, between the Democrats and the White House, was more like a reprieve before a brawl than it was a lasting companionship.

Thought for Today

Beware of false prophets, who come to you in sheep's clothing but inwardly are ravenous wolves.—Matthew 7:15.

Hypocrites do the devil's drudgery in Christ's livery.—Matthew Henry.

Here and There

For a long time we have intended doing a paragraph directed especially to adult readers of the Times-Mirror whose activities, either business, fraternal, religious, civic, or otherwise, receive mention in the news. The Times-Mirror, at considerable expense, has for over ten years, been equipped with an engraving department for printing of pictures in the paper. Since that time we have had many surprising experiences soliciting photographs of well known citizens only to discover that many of them never had a photograph taken in a studio. We have contended, and repeat again, such folks owe it to their families to provide a suitable photograph for the mantle, or the special place where the such personal articles might be displayed. Then, when the occasion arises, and we have occasion to ask for such a picture, with the cooperation of your local commercial photographer, it is an easy matter for us to secure same. Owners of studios are familiar with our problem and doubtless will appreciate a reminder of this sort —which is not intended as a commercial.

And while we're discussing shop, which includes ways and means whereby readers, advertisers and contributors can help lighten the load of the editorial department, there is another matter that is worth while mentioning at this time. That is the manner in which items for the news department are mailed to the office. Several times a day messengers return from the Post Office with bundles of mail, which is usually hastily sorted, with large portions assigned to both the business office and news room. The purpose of this reminder is to ask that contributors sending articles to the news room, either by letter, or through the method of dropping them in the mail slots, be sure to have said items marked "News". This procedure will greatly facilitate the handling of the correspondence and might just be a guarantee of immediate attention to your publicity items.

In a recent letter mailed from Harrisburg, State Senator L. E.

U.S. Bondholders May Now Think Twice Before Cashing

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Raising the interest rate on U.S. Savings Bonds by one-half of one per cent by means of making the bonds mature in seven years, nine months, instead of eight years and 11 months is expected to slow down cashing in.

The rate of redemption has been higher than the rate of sale for the past year. But contrary to general opinion, it has not been the small bondholders who have been cashing in. Sales to individuals, through payroll savings or over-the-counter purchases, have been going up.

It has been the bigger bondholders who have been cashing in. Their purpose has been to reinvest in other securities paying higher interest rates or dividends.

But Treasury Secretary Robert Anderson says that with the new interest rates and shorter maturities in effect, "present holders of bonds will have little or no incentive to cash in and buy new ones. Such switching operations would be costly to investors and the Treasury."

THIS IS BY NO MEANS SMALL business. About one-seventh of the U.S. national debt is in savings bonds with a current cash value of 42 billion dollars. The debt is 289 billion. Just to pay the half per cent interest rise on these savings bonds will cost over 200 million.

There is some argument that this increased interest rate on savings bonds, plus a removal of the present 4.25 per cent ceiling interest rate on other Treasury borrowings is inflationary. The government can pay this increased cost only by raising taxes or borrowing more money.

But the Treasury is having difficulty in borrowing at the old interest rates. This is simply a reflection of the fact that all interest rates are rising—for bank and broker loans, home mortgage, auto and other consumer loans.

BANKERS ARGUE THIS IS NOT inflationary. When American Bankers Assn. announced here that it was starting a new long-range program to mobilize public opinion against inflation, its deputy manager Dr. E. Sherman Adams—an economist unrelated to the other S. A.—pooh-poohed the idea that interest rate rises are necessarily inflationary.

On the contrary, he argues that interest rate increases are anti-inflationary to the extent they encourage saving, curb borrowing and credit expansion.

UNFORTUNATELY, THERE IS NO adequate measure of the interest factor in determining the cost of living.

Bureau of Labor Statistics, which computes the monthly consumers price index, makes a semiannual survey on the cost of buying a home on the installment plan. But this affects only half the population—the homeowners.

BLS makes an assumption that the interest factor rises at about the same rate that prices rise on the purchase of a new auto, a new refrigerator or for other consumer credit. It adjusts these figures proportionately in calculating the cost of living index.

The Bureau is now making a new survey to revise its index in line with changing consumer purchases. This will take a couple of years. So it will be that long before an accurate measure can be placed on the cost of interest payments in the cost of living, and to what extent this is offset by increased interest payments on savings in periods of inflation.

Radio and TV

By CYNTHIA LOWEY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Old friends of "Fibber McGee and Molly" must have been relieved Tuesday night to find that the Wistful Vista couple have been without fact and without violence from radio to the television screen.

Bob Sweeney fits neatly into this viewer's mental picture of Fibber and Cathy Lewis is perfect as Molly. Tuesday night's NBC show was a classic Fibber plot—he wants a two-wheel cart but buys a $9,500 trailer. It was an extremely pleasant half-hour.

Earlier, "Laramie" an hour-long Western, also made its debut on NBC. This is a good professional show but like most TV horse operas seems to have an unnecessary amount of shooting and slugging.

Tonight's top ratings almost certainly will go to "The Arthur Godfrey Show,"—CBS, 10-11 p.m. Eastern Daylight—a special marking the performer's return to broadcasting after convalescence from lung cancer surgery last spring. Godfrey has been working on the show for weeks, taping some portions in Hawaii, others at his Virginia farm and still others in New York. If his first special comes off, says Godfrey, there will be three or four others.

Maybe, now that the premiere season is in full swing, NBC could discontinue those total television commercials and go back to using public service announcements in its unsold time. The new shows it has shown us so far have been pretty pedestrian. Mary Frances Crosby, 6 pounds, arrived just in time to provide her father with some new joke material—at last. Bing, father of five boys, will open his Sept. 29 special on ABC singing "Thanks Heaven for Little Girls."

DON'T DIG INTO YOUR EARS

Wax in the ear canal is beneficial and need not be removed unless hearing is affected by an accumulation that is blocking the canal. This material serves a definite purpose; it keeps the canal clean and free of bacteria.

The normal ear cleans itself when not disturbed. Wax seeps out of the openings and is wiped away when the outer ear is washed while cleaning the face. Many persons injure the ear canal when they try to clean it out with a cotton applicator, plastic syringe, or hairpin. Mothers are prone to poke around baby's ear canals.

Frequent removal of the wax from the canal leaves the lining vulnerable to infection. The result is a dry, itchy canal filled with crumbly wax. Curs is not difficult provided the person cooperates by using a hands off policy and avoids poking paper clips, pencils, hairpins, and soapy wash cloths into the ear. Meanwhile, the physician treats the chronic irritation by removing gently all the dry, caked wax.

Bacterial infection of the ear canal is more painful and the lining becomes red, swollen, and covered with a purulent discharge. The cause may be injury due to frequent cleansing or the micro-organisms may be coming from the middle ear, which also is infected.

Sometimes the tissues are festered after the introduction of a foreign body, such as an eraser or peanut. At this stage of the game, the object is difficult to remove because the passageway is swollen shut. High humidity and spending too much time in the water often macerates the lining and invites bacterial invasion.

Bacteria do not have a monopoly in this region. Fungi find the moist, dark blind alley much to their liking. They produce the usual signs of infection but the discharge is gray-black in color.

At any rate, tests must be made to determine the culprit in order to pit the right antibiotic against the offending agent.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, addressed envelope accompanies request.

GOOSE PIMPLES

H. P. writes: Whenever I get excited, I get big goose pimples. My friends tease me about this. Is there any way I can stop my skin from acting in this way?

REPLY
I doubt it, because it is impossible to avoid excitement unless you become a recluse, living in complete isolation.

CHOKING TO DEATH

M. Z. writes: What is the best first aid for a choking person?

REPLY
Encourage coughing. A finger down the throat, slapping the victim on the back, or reclining with the head lower than the pelvis may help. Complete obstruction is a surgical emergency.

ARTHRITIS AND EDEMA

D. W. writes: Does arthritis cause fluid to collect in the knees?

REPLY
Yes. Serum oozes from the inflamed surface of the joint in much the same way as it does from the nasal passages during a cold. But it cannot escape from the knee and, as a result, the joint becomes swollen.

MEAT AND WEARINESS

W. D. writes: Will eating more meat help overcome fatigue?

REPLY
It might, provided your meat intake is low at present. Why are you fatigued?

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—"Employment holds up well. Corporation cash boxes are fuller, and dividends larger. Money is still being made in the stock market and is turning over fast in trade. The European political and financial thunderstorms have passed over and the international economic atmosphere is clearing."

Right out of today's financial press? No, it's the business outlook summed up in the first issue of the magazine Business Week, Sept. 7, 1929.

The magazine started life six weeks before the stock market crashed—and with 10 dreary years of depression ahead.

But 30 years ago this month the business world was talking about much the same favorable signs—and problems—as today.

Then as now there were surveys. The first issue claimed it polled 5,600 "picked top executives in all lines of trade and industry" and you wouldn't have to change much in what it called their "feel of the business pulse" to print their report today.

General business in September, October and November will be about 6 per cent better than at the close of August.

Employment and purchasing power are holding at a high level. The general public is speculating again. In August (1929) stock market gambling increased in all parts of the country.

Continued high money rates—particularly for mortgage money and rural credit—are retarding business.

Excessive instalment buying—especially of luxuries and automobiles—and increasingly keen competition in the retail field because of chain store development are things to worry about.

Thus spoke the business leaders 30 years ago—just about as they do today.

The magazine's first issue predicts "Congress is going to stick its official nose into the Federal Reserve Board's business are long." Sound like recent rumblings on Capitol Hill about tight money?

As the fall of 1929 began, the magazine reported a "tenseness in Wall Street. Its presence is undeniable. There is a general feeling that something is going to happen during the present season." It sure did, six weeks later.

The magazine reported that 614 stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange were lower in August 1929 than in January, and only 388 had advanced, and stock prices often were "out of sight of earnings."

Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon had been paying as high as 5 1/2 per cent for short-term money needed by the U.S. Treasury, but in September managed to cut it to 4 1/2 per cent because banks were bidding for them in case of emergency. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson's latest six-month issue sold at 4.796 per cent. And his short-term securities seem to be about the only ones he can sell.

But no one seemed to worry much 30 years ago. Business was reported quieter in August than earlier in the year "but still far more lively than a year ago."

The first issue also shows many dissimilarities to today's situation. It notes that "brokers' loans swell till they absorb a third of the banking resources of the country—banks merge and emerge in chains, trailing trusts and holding companies, while industrial corporations pay dividends not by producing goods but by buying each others' stocks and by borrowing and lending everybody's money in the market."

In 1929 the headline was being lowered and "the American manufacturer is jubilant." This year Paris is raising the headline.

Campaign Workers Of Players Club Mailing Invitations To Prospects

On Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Yurick, 14 members of Warren Players Club's campaign com- mittee, board of directors and cast members for "Guys and Dolls" gathered and folded, stapled, stamped, addressed, and packed approximately 700 announcements to old and pros- pective members.

This figure approaches about one-third the number planned for distribution this week. The remaining 1,300 will be sent out on successive days.

Invitations mailed this year contain the roll call of shows planned for the season, with a synopsis of the opener and 100th show, "Guys and Dolls", followed by "Teahouse of the August Moon", "Death of a Salesman", and the closing of- fering, "Holiday for Lovers".

The flyer also explains new policies the campaign com- mittee has adopted for this year. These include the season ticket holders' option to reserve the same seat on the same night of the week for all shows right through the season, thus elim- inating the necessity for mail- ing or calling reservations for each production.

Also the decision to accom- modate office, industrial and professional persons by having shows on Saturday night as well; and, finally, the season ticket applications for which the cost will be the same as last year.

Mr. Yurick said the season tickets are selling at a rate of about 100 a week. The campaigners have reached 20% of their goal of 1,000 and are 130% ahead of last year, he said, adding this comment:

"Undoubtedly the public's overwhelming response is due to many factors, the most im- portant being the choice by the program committee of select, proven shows and the board of directors' decision to help War- renites tear themselves away from the stereotyped Saturday TV western in favor of enter- taining, thought-provoking, and live stimulating shows".

"If you are new to our town", Mr. Yurick added, "the fastest way to meet the nicest people in the world is to get a Warren Players' season ticket. If you can't locate a member of the campaign committee, a limited number of tickets has been ac- cepted by Howard Lemmon at the United Cigar Store and by Mr. McCarthy at Mac's News Stand.

Roumanian Princess Speaker in Assembly

Warren High School Student Council sponsored a double as- sembly today to present Prin- cess Catherine Caradja of Rou- mania in a talk on conditions behind the Iron Curtain. Re- porting her appearance, the school news-writing class has prepared the following:

The main purpose of the Princess in speaking to many groups in many states is not to ask help in Roumania which is lost, but to urge America to help herself and her people to remain free from the Red men- ace enveloping other countries.

Princess Caradja for many years conducted an orphanage for 4,000 children. Here was where she helped many of our American boys to make it safely home. One way in which she deceived the Nazis and got our boys home was by taking great trucks up in the Nazi mountains and putting Ameri- can boys in the back covered with blankets. They left the mountains and the trucks were examined and judged empty. She never saw the boys after that, for she was caught by the Reds.

What was it like? Princess Caradja in her own words said, "It was terrible. Everything is gone from everyone, stock, bonds, everything." The chil- dren, after they are out of grade school, are put on State farms to work as manual labor.

"1947 was the escape year, but because so many fled from the country the Iron Curtain was declared."

In 1949 Princess Caradja was captured, along with 4,000 other people, for displeasing the Reds. This was the last night she worked in the or- phanage. In 1951 she decided to try an escape, succeeding in 1952.

MRS. EDWARD DOUGLAS ROBINSON

Vases of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums and pom poms, with scheffleria foliage, decorated First Presbyterian church September 12, when Mary Adelaide Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph F. Gay, 7 Cottage Pl., became the bride of Edward Douglas Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter W. Robinson, Jr., Westfield, N. J.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p. m., by the Rev. Donald H. Spencer, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Alden H. Welch. Carroll Fowler played selected wedding music; Robert Dietsch sang "O Promise Me", "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer".

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white embroidered nylon over taffeta, the basque bodice having an oval neckline, shirred thimble sleeves, and self bow. The bouffant skirt, which ended in a chapel sweep, was draped at the back over a band of nylon to form a bustle-effect.

Her double tiered fingertip veil of illusion fell from a lace cap outlined in seed pearls. She wore matching gauntlets, also, and carried a lace handkerchief, gift of Mrs. H. R. Welch, Jr. Her cascade bouquet was of thalassopsis orchids, French feathered mums, and ivy sprays.

Attending her as maid of honor was Shirley Fowler; as bridesmaids, Ann Michell, Warren, and Jane Anne Fitzgerald of Pittman, N. J. They were gowned alike in ming blue, satin bodices having high empire waistslines, self bows, and thimble sleeves, the bouffant ballerina skirts fashioned of organza. Their bouquets were cascades of fuji mums, yellow pom poms and yellow wheat.

Best man was Richard C. Robinson, Northport, Long Island; ushers, David Hughes,

Deane Passmore, and David Blackburn of Clairton. Mrs. Gay wore blue silk faille and lace, with yellow cymbidium orchids; Mrs. Robinson, dusty rose lace and white cymbidium orchids. The reception for 150 guests was held at the Woman's Club from 3 to 5 p. m., the fireplace banked with mums and pom poms in fall shades, the bride's table centered with an arrangement of yellow, bronze and white pom poms, with candles, draped smilax, and scheffleria foliage. Carolyn Anderson managed the guest book; Martha Ashcraft served the wedding cake; Judy Milner was at the punch bowl; Margaret McComas and Mrs. Travis Young poured. Out of town guests were from Willowdale, Ontario; Springfield, Jamestown, Yonkers, New York City, Northport, Long Island, N. Y.; Westfield and Pittman, N. J.; Chicago, Ill.; Pittsburgh, Erie, Clairton, McKeesport, Crafton, Oakmont, Ellwood City, North Warren. For the wedding trip to Canada, the bride wore a pale blue plaid suit, with black accessories. The newlyweds will reside at 302 Jefferson St., Midland, Mich., where Mr. Robinson is employed by Dow-Corning. He is a graduate of Grove City College. The bride, a 1957 graduate of Warren High School, completed a two-year secretarial course at Grove City College and has been employed by Carson Finance Company. Pre-nuptial parties were given by members of Sigma Theta Chi Sorority at Grove City College; Mrs. Donald C. Smith; Mrs. Walter Brown; Ann Michell; Carolyn Anderson, Kay Graham, Nancy Lanman; Shirley Fowler; Margaret McComas, Anne Putnam. COLLEGE STUDENTS Keep up with hometown news. Serenity Preserves Your Looks

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

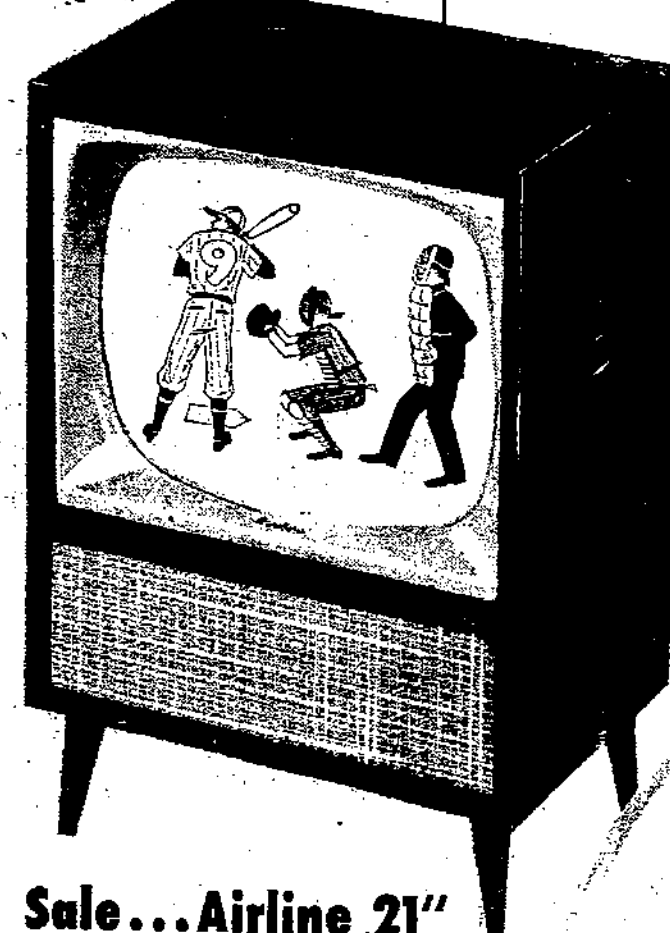

The greatest part of any woman's beauty is dependent on serenity. This doesn't mean a bovine indifference; it means a genuine serenity which stems from an inner calm. Immediately, someone is going to ask how is it possible for anyone to be calm in these times? Well, the truth is that there never was a time really conducive to serenity. Every age, every generation has had its problems. All of them, in their way, were as staggering as ours. And yet, every age has produced its great beauties. But the woman who squints, grimaces, talks constantly, gestures frantically and is never in repose cannot be counted among these. For nervous mannerisms destroy beauty. First, they destroy the illusion and then they actually destroy good looks by implanting crow's feet and deep lines. Inner tensions are damaging to skin, hair, eyes and coloring. So there are very good reasons, very practical ones, for learning how to be serene. Getting rid of a tan at the end of the summer presents as much of a problem to some women as gaining one at the start of the summer. Actually, the process of tanning coarsens the skin to some extent. To reverse the tanning process, a daily twenty minutes in the bathtub and good skin creams are great helps. Don't try anything drastic in order to rid yourself of that tan. Skin is easily marked and not so easily cleared up again. Actually, a tan fades very rapidly; two weeks out of the sun and the deepest tan is beginning to vanish. The reason that a daily bath, with thick terrycloth and bath brush, is a great help is that it aids in sloughing off the dead skin. One of the biggest mistakes that many women make is in going all-out for jewelry when they're partying. They own a matching necklace, earrings, and bracelet so they wear all three. They may also wear glasses which make for additional shine. Quite possibly, they add a clip or a pin because they're uncertain as to what will look well. The result is complete confusion. When you're in doubt, underplay it. Remove a piece or two of jewelry and things improve immediately. By all means, own a set of jewelry but don't wear all three pieces at one time. Even the designer didn't really intend that you should do this.

The Mature Parent
Logical Punishments Are Usually Most Effective

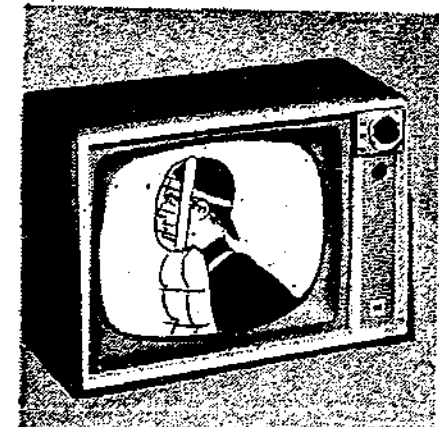

The most effective form of punishment is that which is the logical consequence of an act. If a child does not complete his bedtime routine promptly enough to allow for reading, deprivation of a story is a logical punishment. Parents often, because they love their child, weaken when given such an opportunity to teach cause and effect. A touch of weakness is an extremely desirable component of parental love, but parents should not be weak every time a punishment can fit a crime. Children need to learn the causal relationship between misbehavior and punishment within the sheltering environment of loving and loved parents. Sometimes a logical punishment cannot always follow a bit of misbehavior which must yet be curbed. For example, a small child who is too young to judge danger runs out into the street. The incredibly logical punishment would be to have the child safely but emphatically hit by a car. No parents would plot such a punishment. If no other technique works it is preferable that the parent, acting for the car, hit the child, thus establishing a conditioned reflex against running out into the street, even though the punishment is not the actual effect of this action. There are times when only spanking works. This may occur particularly with a child too young to grasp the significance of other disciplinary methods but who must be taught to check certain behavior. Certainly there is no justification whatever for merciless beating of a child. Other methods of control should be attempted before spanking is resorted to. There is an implication of failure when parents can only gain obedience by physically hurting the child. It is often pointed out that spanking is more important as a release for the parent than as a learning experience for the child. That is probably true at times. But if parents can handle unpleasant child behavior at all times only by hitting, it is hard for the child to see why it is not an equally effective way for him to handle unpleasant parents, teachers and playmates. The pros and cons of spanking have probably been argued since Adam and Eve. Each view has its own validity and fallaciousness.

MRS. JAMES I. FUELLHART

First Presbyterian church in Jamestown was the scene of a lovely wedding on the afternoon of Sept. 12, when Miss Susan Partridge Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Stone, West Ellipton, became the bride of Lt. (jg) James Ingraham Fuellhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark Fuellhart, Warren.

White mums, glads and woodwardia formed the setting in which the Rev. Gilbert van Bever performed the single ring ceremony in the presence of 350 guests. Mrs. Herbert Lind was wedding musician; Mrs. Myron Franks, soloist.

Wearing ivory satin and carrying white gardenias, the bride was escorted by her father. The classic lines of her gown featured a basque bodice and carriage skirt terminating in a sweep train. Insets of Belgian rosepoint lace adorned the sweetheart neckline and elbow length sleeves. A half-hat of satin and lace held her fingertip veil of illusion.

Bridal attendants wore street-length dresses of delphinium blue velvet, with matching shell-shaped hats, and carried white orchids tied with delphinium bows. Miss Sally Stone was her sister's maid of honor; bridesmaids were another sister, Miss Nancy Stone; the Misses Barbara Buchan, Hope Hamilton, and Kathleen Kinney, Jamestown; the bridegroom's sister, Miss Anne Fuellhart, Warren, and Miss Lori Perry, Natick, Mass.

Jane Ulrich, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Charles E. Ulrich of Lakewood, was flower girl. With a velveteen dress of forget-me-not blue, she wore a tiny halo of rosebuds and carried a miniature basket of pink roses. James Price, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Price of Jamestown, was ringbearer.

David Fuellhart attended his brother as best man; ushering were Thomas K. Creal, III, and Hugh Higgins, Warren; Philip Wickenden, Lancaster; Henry Bowers, New York City; Lt. (jg) Jack Ford, Quonset Point, R. I.; Hugh Richardson, Framingham, Mass.

Wearing orchids, Mrs. Stone chose for her daughter's wedding a pervanche blue dress with matching hat; Mrs. Fuellhart, sierra pink lace over matching satin, with matching accessories. Mrs. Frank A. Stone, grandmother of the bride, wore floral challis in blue shades, with a white orchid.

The reception was held at the Sportsmen's Club on Lake Chautauqua, where mums, glads and woodwardia were used as a background, and a table garlanded with greens was centered with a wedding cake crested by a nosegay of gardenias.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garratt were master and mistress of ceremonies; aides were the Misses Diane Taylor, Mary Wellman, Betsy Lenna, Pamela Marshall and Bunny Ulrich.

For travel to Bermuda, the bride wore an ensemble of cavalier blue. They will be at home at Quonset Point, R. I., after Oct. 15.

Mrs. Fuellhart attended Jamestown schools, was graduated from Walnut Hill School in Natick, Mass., in 1957, and from Colby Junior College in New London, N. H., in June. She is a member of Theta Gamma Society.

Lt. Fuellhart was graduated in 1953 from Mercersburg Academy and in 1957 from Princeton University, where he

Ruth Millett

Old Way Isn't Good Enough If You Want to Look Young

When a woman seems older than her years it is usually for a number of reasons.

Millett is a good example. She has been old for years, though even now women who are 10 or 15 years older than Millett still seem young.

Millett began to look old when she was still young. She has worn the same hair style for years—never being venturesome enough to change it.

Her idea of the way to buy clothes is to find something that is serviceable, or that "will do," or that will take her where she wants to go. She has never gone to the trouble to try to look chic, or to search for flattering colors, or to use clothes to set off her personality.

The old is always good enough for Millett. She is wary of the new. So she clings to old ways of doing things, old habits, old prejudices, old notions of what is proper and what isn't.

You'd never catch Millett doing the unexpected, taking a chance, turning over a new leaf, making a fresh start. She clings to routine and safety so that her life is as drab as her looks.

There is nothing wrong with Millett—or with a lot of other women who let themselves grow old too soon—except that they have a fixed picture of themselves that they never allow to change.

"I wouldn't dream of doing such and such," they say or "I've always done this or that," without ever bothering to ask why.

People who stay young are people who are willing to change, to try new things, to take chances, to get out of ruts.

But the Milletts who hate change and are afraid to take chances are always old before their time.

Declares Belle Just Little More Than An Employee

REIO de JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Earle Belle, onetime Pittsburgh financial wonder, was little more than an employee with limited access to records, a U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission investigator says.

Atty. Edward C. Jaegerman commented after taking a long statement from Belle in Brazil Tuesday. He said the statement would clear up the entire Cornucopia and Eastern Development cases.

Belle, who fled to Brazil after his financial empire collapsed, has often been referred to as the head of both Cornucopia and Eastern. He is under federal indictment, charged with fraud and conspiracy.

ROYAL WELCOME FOR "QUEEN" AND PRINCESS — Queen of The Netherlands merchant marine, the 38,645-ton Rotterdam gets an all-out welcome as she arrives off the Statue of Liberty, far background, at New York City on her maiden voyage. Aboard: Princess Beatrix, 21-year-old heiress of the House of Orange, here for an 11-day visit.

The main purpose in taking testimony from Belle, Jaegerman said, was to find the missing links that connect stock deals with Stanley Younger, who recently was arrested in Philadelphia by the FBI.

Carl E. Hennrich, in charge of the FBI's Philadelphia office, said Younger, 29-year-old unemployed stock brokerage clerk, was arrested after he allegedly tried to sell 15 stock certificates stolen in a $25,000 robbery in Long Branch, N.J.

Belle said earlier he may return to the U.S. in September but after meeting with Jaegerman at the U.S. Embassy in Brazil he indicated he would not return this month. Instead, he said:

"I will return when the time is right."

SHEFFIELD

SHEFFIELD — The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary of Frank M. Glendon Post 503 was held Monday evening. President Ruth Howarth presided and the membership chairman, Mrs. Orabelle Shick, announced 40 have paid dues for the new year.

Plans were made to serve a dinner for the Legion and to hold a rummage sale in October. Delegates were elected to Inter-County Council meeting at Kinzua in October and others interested may contact officers. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Gust Newman, Mrs. Ruth Samuelson, Mrs. Ernest Newman, Mrs. Delia Plunkett and Mrs. Betty Johnson.

Mrs. John Dulan has returned from Buffalo, where she visited her son, Charles Dulan, and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Pratt spent the weekend in Buffalo with Mr. and Mrs. Howard Neidhardt.

Mr. and Mrs. Gust Swanson left Tuesday to vacation in Florida.

Anne Marr arrived Sunday from New York City to visit at the home of her uncle, Vincent Johnson, and her aunts, Tracie Johnson and Mrs. Blenda Hinkley.

Three Arrested in Race Disturbance In Erie County

WATERFORD, Pa. (AP)—Three white youths were awaiting hearings today on charges of attacking four Negroes whom they ordered out of an Erie County restaurant.

State police said the trouble started Tuesday at a drive-in restaurant near Waterford where the Negroes had stopped to eat. Police said the Negroes—two men and two women—left the restaurant when told to do so.

The white youths, all released on $2,000 bond, are Julian R. Perry, Dennis F. Ruggles and David C. Little, each 20 and all of Erie. They pleaded innocent.

The Negroes are Mrs. Mary Pope, Mrs. Mattie Scarlock, Walter Moody and Searcy Caldwell, all Meadville.

State police gave this version of the case:

The Negroes left the restaurant after being ordered out by the three white youths. Taking their food with them, they got into an auto and started for Meadville.

The white youths followed and forced the Negroes' car off the road. Moody was struck on the head with some unknown object. The Negroes then resumed their trip but the white youths again forced them off the road. At that time Mrs. Scarlock was struck and the Negroes' auto was damaged by a hatchet.

Police said the car's doors, fenders and trunk were smashed in.

Advice to the man who wants no regrets —

How to choose a watch

that will give years of faithful service

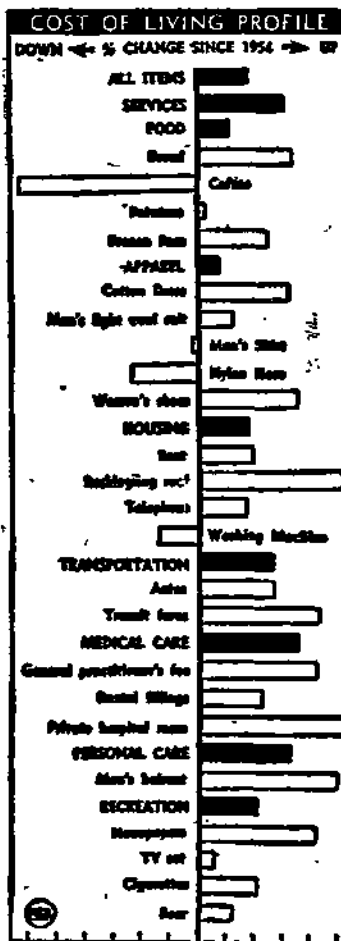

FEW PEOPLE know how a watch operates, or "what makes it tick." It's best to leave this knowledge to experts — just as you depend on your doctor or lawyer for professional advice. Your reliable jeweler is such a man, with many years of experience and training. He thoroughly understands what makes a watch a superb precision instrument created through scientific research by skilled craftsmen.

Your jeweler knows that the future of low prices may be hard to resist, but he also knows that cheap watches may prove costly in the long run. Frequently,

"cheap" watches cannot readily be repaired because replacement parts are not available at stores in which they are sold and must be returned to the factory of the maker for service — a time-consuming operation. Furthermore, you may suffer risk of painful embarrassment of having presented someone with an inferior gift.

Don't be misled! Buy with confidence — protect yourself — by choosing a watch guaranteed by both reliable manufacturer and your reliable jeweler. Learn all the facts about buying a truly fine watch — the best value for your money — from any of the reliable jewelers listed in this ad.

Famous Scents Here As Spray Colognes

Newest addition to the many scents blossoming in spray form is a spray cologne concentrate. It's the subtle form of a French perfume introduced in this country a year ago.

BY ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

More and more, famous scents placed on the market in both are becoming available to the average pocketbook in spray cologne form.

Even in these times of prosperity, not many housewives or career girls can afford to indulge in the really great American or French perfumes. When they do come along, it's usually in gift form.

But what they can do is buy the spray cologne form of one of the great perfumes. In the past year, many of these have been placed on the market in both purse and dressing table containers.

Newest of these is a spray cologne concentrate of a Parisian perfume introduced in America last fall. It's in a metered spray and should be used ten inches away from the skin.

The scent itself is a light one with lasting qualities. It's a floral fragrance which is "dry" rather than cloying. Actually, it's a very modern scent, one which will not overpower either the wearer or her friends.

Northern Area Fall Enrollment Shows Increase

Northern Area School officials report 86 more students enrolled this year than last, the increase described as a result of a relatively small senior class and enrollment of a rather small first grade.

The total picture also follows the area's perennial trend toward a larger influx of younger students and presence of smaller groups near the threshold of graduation.

A count by classes shows the following: Grade One, 139; Two, 150; Three, 124; Four, 118; Five, 110; Six, 117; elementary special education, 24; Seven, 126; Eight, 100; Nine, 75; Ten, 80; Eleven, 74; Twelve, 67; secondary special education, 16.

Of the total of 782 grade school students, 220 attend the Lander elementary building; 282 are at Russell School; 280 at Sugar Grove. There are 538 pupils attending classes at Eisenhower High School.

The high school, designed to accommodate 550 students, is operating at virtual capacity and will be faced with overload problems in subsequent years.

It's the warmth that radiates through the make-up which keeps Red Skelton cooking as the TV comedian beloved of millions. He's beaming, above, in role of "San Fernando Red."

NEW YORK (AP)—Actor Edward Binns has two profiles—and can't decide whether this is a curse or a blessing.

It all came about as the result of a nose broken in his youth. "If I turn my head one way, I look like an honest cop," he said. "If I turn it the other way, I look like a hood."

"But is this good or bad?" he asked.

It's good to the extent that his double profile has helped keep Eddie one of the busiest actors in the craft. In the last two decades he has appeared in five Broadway plays, 15 movies and some 400 television shows.

It's bad, he feels, in that producers too often cast him in police or hoodlum roles. Gifted with one of the most memorable faces in show business, his problem has been to make his name as well known as his face.

A peaceful man by nature who served as an armament officer in World War II, Eddie is a former instructor at Pennsylvania State University. He is married and has three daughters.

Binns achieved star status this summer playing a detective lieutenant in a new CBS network show.

The program got off to good critical acclaim but has been dropped by the sponsor. Its fate is dependent on whether CBS can find another sponsor and time slot.

"They complain about too much violence on television. In the first 22 shows I haven't shot one man. I did punch one fellow in the stomach, and I kissed a girl. Is that too much violence?"

"But still we were dumped, even though we had good ratings. The reason given was that the public doesn't want a show that faces up to life, and shows life as it is. They say the public only wants to escape life."

Binns shook his head thoughtfully.

"But do sponsors and the agencies know what the public wants?" he asked.

"Someone once praised one of our shows by saying it was 'like real.' That's the best compliment an actor, writer or producer can get. Television needs more shows that are like real."

BUSINESS BRIEFS

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Harvey Gaylord, president of Bell Helicopter Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., became president of Bell Aircraft Corp. Tuesday.

Gaylord, 55, succeeds Leston Faneuf, who was president of the aircraft corporation since the death of its founder, Lawrence D. Bell, in 1956.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Eaton Manufacturing Co. introduced a controlled slip differential designed to give autos and trucks improved traction on ice and snow. The differential will be offered as optional equipment of 1960 light trucks produced by one of the big three automakers, Eaton said.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Par-handle Eastern Pipe Line Co. asked the Federal Power Commission to approve an increase of $8,663,700, or eight per cent, annually in wholesale natural gas rates. The proposed increase would affect 61 of the utility's customers in six states including Ohio.

Pilot Tells How He Knocked Down Jet at 38,000 Feet

JACKSON, Mich. (AP)—"It was a perfect hit. In my 17 years of flying, I've never seen a better hit."

Thus did Lt. Col. Montie A. Davis describe his air-to-air missile shot Monday that knocked a jet fighter out of the sky at 38,000 feet. The pilot parachuted to safety.

"It happened because I'm the world's biggest knothole," Davis told newsmen at Selfridge Air Force Base where he is commanding officer of the 1st Interceptor Squadron.

Davis, 37, said he didn't know his jet was loaded with deadly missiles and rockets as he flew on a training mission over southern Michigan with Lt. Albert L. Pruden, 25, of Mount Clemens, Mich. Both were flying F102 supersonic Delta Daggers.

Davis aimed at Pruden's target plane and pressed the trigger in make-believe firing. An air-to-air missile struck the plane.

Pruden's plane—a wing shot off—went into a spin and crashed in flames in a farmyard 15 miles northeast of Jackson. A family of three ran from the path of the falling craft.

Pruden bailed out and drifted in his parachute for 45 minutes before landing in a cornfield. He suffered mild shock, a cut foot and bruised leg.

"Something went wrong with my plane," Pruden said afterward. "It felt like I was hit by something. It went into a spin and I couldn't pull it out, so I bailed out."

The Air Force would not say what type of missile Davis fired. It was described as a kind that seeks out its target.

Davis said his eagerness to get going with the practice mission, which was behind schedule, was to blame for the accident. He said his plane was a last-minute substitute for a jet already had checked for the flight. He said he took the plane into the air without a complete preflight check.

Make the Most of Passing Years

There are two ways of going at middle age: you can accept it gracefully and be charming, or you can get desperate about it and try to look and act twenty.

If you do try to act half your age, you will, of course, be ridiculous. You'll wear bouffant skirts, tight slacks, fuzzy sweaters and elaborate hairdos. (Not even youngsters can get away with some of these but they'll look better than you will.)

There's a third possible way: the lumpy figure, sagging print dress and rimless glasses routine. This is the opposite of the recaptured youth act and just as extreme.

What's open to you is far more pleasant. If you want beauty at your age, shop for clothes which are trim, flattering and fun to wear. They should be neither youthful nor dowdy.

trêmes. Watch your diet, and keep your figure trim. Use soft make-up but don't overdo it and don't abandon it altogether. As in most things, the happy medium is the right answer here.

A good many women apply make-up as if they were afraid of it. With timid hand, they draw on eyebrows, apply two round spots of rouge, a smudge of lipstick in the wrong shade and finish with a dab of powder.

The basic steps in make-up are, first, a dusting of powder all over face and neck with swansdown puff or cotton puff. Either will get the powder on lightly rather than packing it down. Next, perill in the brows with light, quick strokes that simulate the actual hairs. Never draw a hard line over the eye. Now, apply dry rouge with a clean puff and then buff it down with a wadded cleansing tissue. The color should seem to melt right into the skin. Powder your face once more and then apply lipstick.

Pick a shade that makes your skin glow. American Upsticks are excellent and the right shade for you is among them. Blot the lipstick, after letting it set, with cleansing tissue. And a younger, prettier face will look out from your mirror.

Rx for an itchy, irritated skin is a remedy of many years which doctors still recommend: a warm bath to which you add a cup of starch and a cup of baking soda. Soak yourself for twenty minutes and watch your skin come clean, silky and soft. Minor irritations begin clearing up at once.

Each panel is eight feet high; two feet, three inches wide, and 3/8 inch thick, and Hutton expects to have all 80 by March.

JUST A FOOT AWAY

Women Wanting a Career, Podiatry Is Open Field

BY AILEEN SNOODY
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Many young women are just a foot away from a rewarding, remunerative career. The foot, an aching one, belongs to nine out of 10 people nearing 40 years old with some kind of foot difficulty. The career is in podiatry.

"Podiatry," according to Dr. Elizabeth Roberts, "is a natural for a woman."

Dr. Roberts draws on 16 years of practice and teaching as she advises young girls to consider the field.

The majority of her patients, she explains, are women. And for a good reason. "I wear women's shoes and understand their problems."

But this is not the only reason the field needs a touch of femininity. There is plenty of room for new members and no discrimination because of sex. There are 150 physicians per 100,000 population; 60 dentists per 100,000, but only five "foot" doctors per 100,000.

Of the 7,500 to 8,000 podiatrists in the United States, only 200 to 250 are women. And in the New York area where Dr. Roberts has her office, there are only 10 practicing women podiatrists.

Perhaps more important to today's so-called careerists, this is one area of medicine where a woman's time is her own.

"There are no life or death calls to get you out of bed at three in the morning."

"You set your own office hours, which is ideal for a married woman."

Foot doctors like to prevent aching feet as well as ease them. Many parents have youngsters' feet checked periodically by a podiatrist. A foot doctor like Dr. Elizabeth Roberts advises her young patients to be sure to wear absorbent mercerized cotton socks that are a half-inch longer than her longest toe.

This schedule Dr. Roberts finds works out well with her 4½-year-old daughter and lawyer-husband.

Vivacious, with strands of gray tipping her dark hair, Dr. Roberts laughs at her evangelistic approach to the profession. "But I'm sold on it," she admits.

Dr. Herman Sonderling, president of the M. J. Lewi College of Podiatry, where she is a softer touch with instruments."

There also is the crass note of money. After six years of pre-professional and foot specialization courses, a podiatrist jumps right into the field. A woman can make, says Dr. Sonderling, from $8,000 to $10,000 in three years. A few more years and she nears $15,000.

With all this encouragement, there still are only 16 women among 800 students in the six schools of podiatry in the United States.

Woman first, doctor second. Dr. Roberts doesn't like to see her patients wear dowdy, heavy shoes.

"Morale is essential," she believes.

Dr. Roberts' viewpoint is that a good shoe is one that gives adequate support with a minimum amount of coverage.

She admits some women were shocked when she told them to wear sling-backs and throw away the heavy oxfords. She would like to see stockings with mercerized cotton feet because they are more absorbent.

With a daughter who is a champion foot massager, Dr. Roberts has more than a business interest in helping youngsters romp on happy feet.

Tight socks cause as much difficulty for youngsters today, she feels, as tight shoes did years ago.

And while on the subject of sore feet, she observes, "If you don't like to dance or walk with your husband, it may be your feet."

A Warren High School junior had the tip of his left index finger amputated and his left hand fractured in four places after his riding horse stepped on the hand Tuesday evening. In Warren General Hospital is Theodore Donaldson, Jr., 17, of Dutch Hill Road. His mother, Mrs. Theodore Donaldson, Sr., said this morning that her son was coming along "nicely."

The accident occurred about 6:30 o'clock last evening as Ted was leading the horse to water, Mrs. Donaldson reported. The horse shied from something, Mrs. Donaldson said, and reared up, knocking Ted to the ground.

When the animal came down, it trampled on the youth's hand. Mrs. Donaldson said the finger tip was removed at the hospital last night. Ted also sustained a finger laceration.

Donaldson is expected to be discharged from the hospital Sunday, his mother said.

County Heart Group To Attend Session

Members of the Warren County Heart Association will attend the tenth annual meeting and scientific sessions of the Pennsylvania Heart Association in Erie Sept. 19 and 20. Donald L. Curtis, president of the Warren association, said Dr. Raymond E. Lowe will attend a briefing session of delegates to the American Heart Assembly in Philadelphia in October.

Mr. Curtis will receive an achievement and merit award for the heart group at the presidents' breakfast and annual business meeting at Erie. Dr. Robert Donaldson and Dr. J. Theodore Valone will attend the scientific sessions to be held the second day of the sessions. Phyllis Duncan, executive secretary of the Warren association, will attend the annual staff conference and training workshop.

Refreshments were served to 19 members and all were reminded the next meeting will be Guest Night at the church.

The first fall meeting of Blue Circle was held with Mrs. Gwendolyn Mariner, North Main St., with the following chosen as officers: President, Mrs. Pearl Hendrickson; vice president, Mrs. Gwendolyn Mariner; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Mildred Peoples. Mrs. H. E. Higgins was co-hostess for refreshments. The October meeting will be held with Mrs. Hendrickson.

Mrs. Wendell Engstrom and Denny Engstrom drove to New York Sunday, taking Chuck back to art school.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dillon, Washington, D. C., spent last week at their local home, Dillon Place.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor "I never really appreciated America until I went to Russia," says Barbara Higbee, of New York, just back from a seven-week stint at the American Exhibit in Moscow.

"Just the day before I left I had time to stop in and see the Circarama in our exhibit—you know, that wonderful full-circle movie showing typical American scenes—and all of a sudden I felt I couldn't wait to get back home."

Barbara demonstrated sewing machines in the home-sewing booth at the fair, and she says the Russians were fascinated by both the machines and American fashions.

"Even when the booth was empty, they were crowded 10 deep around it," she said, "just looking. Most Russian women make their own clothes, but they do not have the variety of either patterns or fabrics we have here. Fabrics are very expensive—an average of $6 a yard for rayons."

Barbara and the other girls in her group lived at the Ukraina Hotel, one of Moscow's newest and most modern, corresponding somewhat to New York's Waldorf. "From the outside it looked like a palace," Barbara said. "But inside it ran pretty much to red plush and early Grand Rapids type furniture. The bathrooms were about 1910 models, by American standards."

"Getting food in the dining room was a real adventure. The first week I nearly starved because I hadn't got onto the system. Then we discovered that you had to shop around for a waiter before

Designs Make Use of Maximum Space

Busy but orderly center of family activities is this living room. Flexible seating pattern of chairs and sectionals and wedge-shaped tables swing a conversational center around the coffee table. Plaid sofa converts to guest bed.

Add an expanding family circle to a lengthening list of home-centered recreational activities and our small homes will show the stress. Various ways of relieving the stress have been suggested. Remodeling or adding a room or two may turn the trick but it's expensive. Furniture manufacturers have spent millions of dollars devising designs which can put limited living room space to maximum use.

Young and growing families particularly will appreciate the progress in the low and moderately priced furniture in combining pleasant, space-conserving design with serviceability. This fall you'll see some examples of clean-lined modern furniture which will help a living room live up to its name, comfortably informal but without a trace of sloppiness.

For styling, one major manufacturer borrows from Scandinavian sources while keeping individual pieces as versatile as possible for flexible room planning. Geometric-shaped tables, wedges, squares, circles and rectangles are made to combine with interchangeable seating pieces—seats, sofas, one-armed spindle backs and open wood frames give upholstered pieces back interest and a low-scaled appearance. Loose floor cushions may be covered in plastic or fabric and table tops are mar-resistant plastic in white or wood grain.

Combining these seating pieces with sectional storage cabinets and a sleep-sofa, also in a light-colored Danish design, one 14- by 14-foot room became a busy but orderly center of home living. Wedge-shaped tables separate two-seater sofas and help to form furniture into a companionable circle for conversing around a coffee table.

Trimly upholstered in a plaid fabric, the sofa seats three but for an overnight guest, it converts to a comfortable bed. The sectional storage units houses a record player, books, games and refreshment serving pieces besides miscellaneous household effects. A corner desk gives room for reading and writing.

A versatile floor lamp between desk and sofa telescopes on its walnut and brass shaft. Moved up, it floodlights the desk area; pushed down it lights the reader's book.

A light-colored tile floor is partially covered by an area rug of a tweedy-textured rug which defines the conversational grouping of furniture is not so large that it cannot be rolled up when furniture is pushed to the walls and dancing is the evening entertainment.

Daughter's Interest in Sewing Should Be Encouraged

BY KAT SPERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

One skill homemakers want to foster in their daughters is sewing. If you're a natural-born sewer, your daughter will literally learn the art at her mother's knee. Your enthusiasm and enjoyment in stitching up clothes and household articles are contagious. But what to do if you're a so-so sewer; if sewing is not your specialty?

Recognizing, as most of us do sooner or later, that sewing is a useful and rewarding skill to have even though you may never achieve the artistry of tailoring a suit, will encourage you to be patient with a youngster's native curiosity about things in your sewing box.

Of help, too, are instruction books. One of the best I've seen is a relatively new one, "Sewing is Fun," prepared by the educational department of a major American sewing machine company (Singer). It's simply and easily written, loaded with clear illustrations of procedures and sprightly suggestions for things to make.

Perhaps, because my own daughter is beginning to take an interest in sewing, I was especially interested in advice on the subject from Mrs. Edith Paul, who supervised preparation of the book, and is herself the mother of a nine-year-old daughter.

"Six years is not too young," Mrs. Paul told me, "for a little girl to learn how to sew on buttons, thread a needle, tie a knot and make a simple running stitch." She does suggest, however, that the younger the child the larger the buttons should be for first projects. "This is the age," she adds, "when such good habits as proper lighting, use of pincushion, handling of scissors, etc. may be formed. Early teaching develops manual dexterity and familiarity with sewing principles."

Of course, individual children will vary in their aptitude. To encourage their interest, and in-

Learning to sew can be encouraged by simple projects such as the button-flower trimmed felt needle case this girl is making.

As skill increases, the nine-year-old miss enjoys learning the basics of machine sewing. Above she is learning to stitch around a circle. This will help her toward neat and accurate seamcrease their satisfaction and pride in the finished article. Mrs. Paul recommends using felt or firm cotton fabrics in favorite colors. These materials are easy to cut and to sew.

She also suggests (as the book shows) guiding a youngster to create a useful item right away. Suitable and simple are button-flower trimmed felt needle cases, daisy-appliqued felt eye-glass case, apple pincushion and old-cloth book cover.

As dexterity and knowledge increase, you may wish to give her a hand-operated sewing machine and let her create bibs and simple doll clothes.

Between nine and 10 years old she will probably be ready for supervised stitching on an electric machine. Mrs. Paul advises us to acquaint her with the names and positions of the basic parts of the machine—bobbin, presser foot, balance wheel, stitch, regulator, etc.—and to have her practice stitching with an unthreaded needle along the ruled lines of paper.

When she can stitch straight down the lines, draw circles on paper and have her practice stitching around these. This practice will help her toward neat and accurate seam-

A strip of adhesive tape stuck on the thread plate of the machine five-eighths of an inch from the needle hole acts as a guide for straight seams. This size is the usual seam width and with the fabric edge touching the tape edge, the seam will automatically be the correct width. Show her how to thread the needle and the bobbin. Projects she can try on the machine include lamp shade covers, aprons and pillow covers.

CAPITALISTIC CULINARY—One of the stops on Nikita Khrushchev's whirlwind tour of the U.S. will be in the heart of America's corn belt. There, on an Iowa farm, the Soviet Premier will see the latest American agricultural methods in operation. Sketches above show in simplified form how farmers, teamed with machinery, college researchers and seed and chemical companies, are boosting U.S. farm output while cutting down on acreage at the same time—a proud achievement. But also a headache to the Agriculture Department. On the other hand, Mr. Khrushchev's farm program is in trouble for not producing enough, so the Russian leader will undoubtedly want to borrow some ideas from America's corn "recipe."

NEW FARM COTTAGE—A new plan for a sturdy, compact farmhouse suitable to the needs of a young or retired couple and designed to save on space and costs, has been issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. An unusual feature is the sleeping area with its convertible bed. This is only one of the space-saving devices. In the daytime, the bed becomes a couch when pushed partially under the storage cabinet. The living area of the cottage is 485 square feet. To save space, the house features a built-in wall desk and a wardrobe closet. The water heater is placed beneath kitchen counter, the room heater is built into the wall and a porch closet for work clothes is conveniently reached from the back entrance. Generous window space makes this design particularly suited to warm climates. Working drawings needed for building the cottage are available from county agents or extension agricultural engineers at state colleges. This is Farmhouse Plan No. 7131.

Iowa Hawkeyes In Need of a Good Quarterback

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Iowa Hawkeyes, one of the Big Ten's offensive dynamos, may suddenly find 1959 one of those so-so seasons because the main cog—an all-around quarterback—is missing.

Coach Forest Evashevski said as much when fall practice began and has seen little since to change his mind. Today he has only one healthy signal-caller after No. 2 quarterback Wilburn Hollis was sidelined with an ankle sprain.

Olen Treadway is Evashevski's No. 1 quarterback. But he is not the runner that Evashevski needs to keep his winged-T formation functioning to its full potential. Hollis is a deceptive runner that can keep a defense honest but he lacks Treadway's skill on the long passes.

Don White was moved into full-time duty as Notre Dame quarterback after alternating at fullback. Regular signal-caller George Izo is still sidelined with a knee injury.

Brown has wingback Ray Barry and quarterback Ned Ormond back after being laid up with injuries. Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath put sophomores Dave Mulholland and Tom King at the first string halfback spots, replacing vets Bill Kauth and Arlie Bostad.

Rice tackle Don Rather is on the doubtful list for Saturday's opener against national champion Louisiana State after requiring 12 stitches to close a gash on his nose, suffered in Saturday's scrimmage.

Number Players Are Enrolled on The Injured List

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Landis, the Chicago White Sox fleet centerfielder, will be lost to the American League leaders indefinitely. But Manager Al Lopez, for one, is hoping that "indefinitely" doesn't mean for the remainder of the season and perhaps the World Series.

Landis, the man Lopez calls the key to the White Sox recent success, was one of four players injured Sunday. He was hospitalized with a ruptured blood vessel in his right leg after a 3-1 victory over Boston, coupled with two Cleveland defeats, had stretched Chicago's lead to 5½ games.

Other players injured were Ryne Duren, the Yankees' relief ace, Bill Tuttle, Kansas City outfielder, and Brooks Robinson, Baltimore third baseman.

Duren was literally knocked out of the box in the 11th inning of the first game with Cleveland when he was hit on the shin by a line drive off Tito Francona's bat. X-rays showed no break and he was able to walk out of a hospital unaided after being carried off the field. He is expected to be able to pitch again in about four days.

Tuttle is out the remainder of the season. He broke the ring finger on his right hand while trying to make a play on Willie Tabor's first inning double in the

Burdette and Jones Clash In First of Vital Series

By JOE RIECHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The stage was set for the big series today as the National League's only 20-game winners, Milwaukee's Lew Burdette and San Francisco's Sam Jones, clashed in the first game of the season's most important two-game set.

The Giants, apparently free of their hitting doldrums, were comforted by the knowledge that even should the Braves knock them off in both games, the best Milwaukee could do is tie them for first place.

The Giants' lead today was two games, made possible by Tuesday's 13-6 conquest of Cincinnati.

coupled with Los Angeles' spectacular 8-7 comeback victory in 10 innings over the equally stubborn Braves.

The only thing that seems safe to predict at this point is that the race will go right down to the wire. That means the last three clubs—Chicago, St. Louis and Philadelphia—will play a vital role in determining the eventual winner.

On the final weekend of the campaign, Sept. 25, 26, 27, the Giants will play at St. Louis, the Dodgers at Chicago and the Braves will be host to Philadelphia.

St. Louis defeated Philadelphia 6-4 in the other NL game. Cold weather postponed Pittsburgh at Chicago.

Alarmed over the Giants' lack of base hits in recent days, Manager Bill Rigney shook up his lineup and his move paid immediate dividends. With Felipe Alou in right field and Jimmy Davenport at third base, the Giants smashed out of their hitting slump with eight runs in the first two innings. They massaged four Red hurlers for 13 hits, including home runs by Daryl Spencer and Willie McCovey.

Kane Loses Fullback

Lopez Giving Thought As To His First Game Pitcher

By ED WILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

He won't admit it, of course, but the only real problem Manager Al Lopez of the Chicago White Sox has today is a choice between Early Wynn and Billy Pierce as his opening game pitcher in the World Series.

Lopez, chairman of the board when it comes to nice guy managers, insists that there are a number of worries to be taken care of before he starts thinking about the series. But with his Sox 5 1/2 games ahead and their magic number reduced to four with eight games to play in pursuit of their first American League pennant since 1905, the problems he claims are imaginary.

Still, he was a lump—but happy—manager after his Sox kept down what comes naturally with a 4-3 victory over the New York Yankees Tuesday. He was less limp and even more happy a few hours later when Boston knocked off second place Cleveland 1-0.

Who the White Sox will meet when the series opens in Comiskey Park September 30 is still anybody's guess. The National League race could bust wide open with the two-game series opening at San Francisco today between the first-place Giants and the Milwaukee Braves.

In the other AL games, Baltimore defeated Detroit 2-1 in 11 innings and Washington split a twinnight pair with Kansas City, the Senators winning the opener 1-0 behind Camilo Pascual's three-hitter, then losing 6-2.

RETAINS TITLE

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Bobby Gordon of Charleroi emerged from a hard-fought 12-round bout bloody but still owner of the Pennsylvania middleweight boxing title. Gordon, 158, retained his title by winning a unanimous decision over Al Hauser, 160, of Philadelphia Tuesday night. The fight was staged on a barge at an amphitheater in Pittsburgh's Point State Park.

Carl Furillo of LA Dodgers, in nearing the end of his playing days, regrets that he didn't learn to switch-hit.

Engineers Hear Emhardt Review Society Goals

Fred W. Emhardt of Warren, president of Bucktail Chapter, Pennsylvania Society of Professional Engineers, conducted the opening meeting of the 1959-60 season at Valley Hunt Club in Bradford Monday evening, with 22 members and guests present.

Committee chairmen appointed for the new year include Edmund G. Baird, North Warren, ethics and practice; John P. Fry, Johnsonburg, Science Fair and legislative; Robert M. Hulings, Bradford, membership; and three Ridgway men, John S. Askey for the program, Sidney M. Blaskett for public relations, and Fred I. Biggs for scholarships.

Mr. Emhardt introduced as guest speaker John T. West, executive secretary of the organization, who came from Harrisburg. Mr. West reviewed the 10 years in which he has served. He said the organization has done much in this time to protect the public from many self-styled "engineers".

He said recommended practices have been established for relations between architects, contractors and engineers in a new publication; high school students have had engineering explained to them, and various engineering courses in colleges and universities have been described in some detail.

Also in this 10-year period, he stated, state chapters have grown from 15 to 29. In conclusion, Mr. West forecast further growth and inclusion of student chapters, with a goal of real and useful service.

John Askey and John Depetro, who cooperated in setting up the program, were commended. Mr. Askey said he hopes to have the next meeting in Warren, with C. Walter Johnson, Warren, showing pictures taken during his trip to Germany.

Face in Line for Award Considerations

Little El Roy Face, smallest pitcher in NL, has to be the Pirates' contender in years for the 1959 Baseball Writers Association of America Most Valuable Player Award.

Face is also in line for top consideration for "Sporting News" Pitcher of the Year award and Cy Young Memorial award.

Roy, who had won 17 straight until last Friday, when he lost his first game in Los Angeles Coliseum, hadn't attracted National attention until this year when his unbeaten string captured the imagination of fans all over the country.

He has a three-year record of 23 and 3. Roy has helped save 41 games which were credited to members of the Pirate pitching staff.

Commenting on last Friday's loss, the Pirates got beat by the Dodgers 5 to 4, Face said, "No one likes to lose, but I didn't expect to go on winning forever. I'm just sorry I couldn't have saved it for Friday."

"I guess I'll just have to start another winning streak."

quarrel, then not only our countries can suffer colossal damage, but the other countries of the world will also be involved in a world shambles."

This is the note the Soviet leader sounded long ago—that if the Soviet Union and the United States, as the two most powerful countries on earth, could settle their differences, the whole world's problems could be solved.

It was this idea which apparently caused some suspicion among the United States' allies: that the two great nations might come to an agreement at their expense. But Eisenhower has repeatedly emphasized, as he did in welcoming Khrushchev, that "we shall not be negotiating any issues affecting the interests of other countries."

About 200,000 persons lined the streets to watch Khrushchev's entry into the nation's capital. The crowds generally were quiet, un-demonstrative, sometimes even cold to the visitor although polite waves of clapping greeted him at times. There were a few boos, but no major disturbances.

In no way did the reception approach the million-person outpouring for example, which greeted the visit of Queen Elizabeth of Britain in 1957.

The lack of public enthusiasm, however, appeared to have little effect upon Khrushchev. The 63-year-old, apparently indefatigable Communist leader topped his busy day with a bouncy performance at the White House dinner, a plush function attended by about 100 American and Soviet guests.

Mr. Barratt said the conference with Labor and Industry officials next week will be to determine exactly what the state requires. No estimate of cost will be available until this is known, he said.

Appointment by the board of Gerald Newburg, who operates a grocery store on Mill St., as a new school board director, was made at the Monday meeting. He succeeds Chris Yutze who is now superintendent of the Senate store room at the capitol in Harrisburg.

Two student teachers will join the faculty at the high school next week to teach science and social studies for eight weeks. They will be coming from Pennsylvania State University. Their names are not yet known. Adult education courses begin at the high school Sept. 24. The board awarded the coal contract to Merlin A. Bearfield whose bid was $9.90 per ton. Purchase of 15 chair-desks and trading of three typewriters for new ones in the typing class also was approved by the board.

Modest Goals

world today are not produced by misunderstanding.

They spring from basic clashes of national purpose expressed in Khrushchev's frequent predictions of a Communist triumph throughout the world and in the declared determination of Eisenhower and other Western leaders not to let that happen.

Statesmen faced with problems which appear to them insoluble almost invariably hoist the banner of better understanding over their conferences. It advertises a minimum hope which they can jointly express without sacrificing anything of value. But the tough realities of their differences are thrust forward, nonetheless, by events.

Such an event coincided with Khrushchev's arrival here Tuesday. It grew out of the continuing Communist effort to take over power in the little southeast Asian country of Laos.

near the State Line Speedway, about 12 o'clock midnight. Some time between that hour and 12:20 the accident occurred, since the call to the State Police was received about 12:20 a. m. from a resident of the area, a Mrs. Kipple.

The crew in charge of the North Warren Ambulance Service rushed the survivors to the Warren General Hospital. When the body of Mr. Brown reached the institution a physician informed the officers he was doubtlessly killed instantly. His face and head were crushed almost to a pulp and he had multiple fractures of the body.

Inspection at the scene provided few clues to assist in determining just what happened. One theory is that the operator of the vehicle may have fallen asleep, losing control long enough for it to careen off the road.

The 1953 Studebaker sedan involved in the accident, being transferred to Mr. Brown by Bowen White Truck, Inc., 1312 Pennsylvania Ave., west, in good mechanical condition, was not too badly damaged.

Identity of the victims was not established until they had been removed to the hospital, when officials secured services of the Warren Police Department in locating relatives.

Donald Eugene Brown was born in Warren March 4, 1937 and had been a lifelong resident of the area. Following Army service from 1954 to 1958, with an armored tank unit, he had been employed by the Huber Blacktop Company.

Surviving are his wife, Frances Pauline Brown, and a daughter, Therese Lynn, aged three; his stepfather and his mother, Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Gebhart; two sisters and a brother, Mary Ann, Lols and Lewis Gebhart, Sugar Grove.

The funeral at 2 p. m. Friday will be followed by interment in Pine Grove cemetery at Russell.

South might well have tried for seven after his partner's jump raise. If he had used the Blackwood route he would have located all aces and kings and surely bid the grand slam but South was one of those old fashioned players who did not believe in seven bids unless he could personally see 13 tricks so he contented himself with a quick six bid.

This time his decision turned out wise indeed. The singleton ace of hearts opposite the singleton king gave no opportunity for a discard and when South saw the dummy it looked as if he would have to go down one at six.

But, South had no trouble making his contract. He won the heart lead, drew five rounds of trumps, cashed the aces and kings of the two minor suits and then went into a short trance. He flipped a mental coin and led a diamond. East won but since East had started with only two clubs he had to give South a ruff and a discard so South made the hand.

South's trance had been unnecessary. West had started with only two diamonds and a club lead would have end played him in the same fashion.

What do you do?
A—Bid four diamonds only. You have a good hand but if your partner has nearly all red cards your king of spades is apt to be useless to him.
